

TONKA COIN WHITEPAPER

Abstract

We live in a world of many currencies, values, and utility which are often represented digitally. This digital representation of value is how we as humans streamline our productive forces to build the amazing standard of living we have grown accustomed too. Within the growing blockchain phenomenon, this digitalization of money and value goes on step further to decentralize control of the ledger to all participants, thus eliminating middlemen from a utility (money) so critical to everything we do.

It's time to take this even FURTHER!

It's time to digitalize the true value of Anton Mladenov. Introducing AntonCoin, abbreviated as "TONKA". A fully centralized cryptocurrency for the big AM!

Technical

TONKA uses the ERC20 token standard, allowing it to be traded and used wherever supports ERC20 (which is almost everywhere).

The smart-contract was created on Anton's birthday (GENESIS CONTRACT).

Valuation

The future of AntonCoin is bright. Due to complicated market analysis and coins going up in value left and right, we estimate that in 10 years, each TONKA will be worth a million times more than it's current value.

